

European Strategic Autonomy: perspectives and scenarios for the future

EUI AA online event

24 June 2021 – 18:00 – 19:00 CET

The aim of this informal fireside chat is that of debating with knowledgeable experts from our Alumni community about the concept of European Strategic Autonomy. This will be an occasion to bring together the Alumni community from different background around a topic of common interest.

Strategic Autonomy is a concept that touches upon various aspects of EU policies and strategies, from industrial supply value chains to emerging and disruptive technologies (EDT). It also has an impact on all facets of Europe's interaction with the world. In this one-hour online event, Alumni working in different fields, different sectors and from different countries will share their thoughts on what European Strategic Autonomy means for the context they are embedded in.

18:00 – 18:05

WELCOME

Elie Michel (President, EUI AA Board)

Alessandra Chirico (Secretary, EUI AA Board)

18:05 – 18:15

INTRODUCTION

Alex Wilson (Policy Analyst, Economic Policies Unit, EPRS)

18:15– 18:40

PANEL

Karine Caunes, (Director, CAIDP Global Academic Network for AI law & policy & Editor in Chief, European Law Journal) – AI & Digital

Filippo Vergara Caffarelli (Senior Economist, Bank of Italy) - Economic implications

Thomas Jorgensen (Senior Policy Coordinator, European University Association) – Research & Innovation

Jacob Oberg (Associate Professor in EU Law/Visiting Fellow Örebro University/Lund University) – EPPO

18:40 – 18:50

Q&A

18:50 – 19:00

Closing by Alessandra Chirico